TEN CENTS A WEEK

MRS. POTTER PALMER TO WED ENGLISH EARL

News of the Engagement Has Reached Chicago.

WEDDING OCCURS IN THE FALL

Peer Who Has Won the Heart and Fortune of Chicago's Social Leader is a Bachelor 45 years Old, and is Not Wealthy.

Chicago, June 19.—The Tribune on Monday night received advices from London, telling of the engagement of Mrs. Potter-Palmer to Aubrey Fitz-Clarence, earl of Munster. The engagement has not been announced officially, but the Tribune's correspondent declared there was no doubt as understanding had been reached and that publication would follow in a few days. The wedding will take place in London in the fall.

MRS. POTTER PALMER

This report confirms rumors that have been current for some time past.

The peer who has won the heart and fortune of Chicago's social leader is a bachelor, 45 years old and not blessed with superabundance of this world's goods. He, however, is said to be a handsome man and a man of charming manners. He has had no public career other than that of gentleman usher to King Edward. His London residence is 79 Elizabeth street, Eton Square, and he has a place at Brighton. For the rejuvenation of the earl's establishment, Mrs. Palmer will bring an income of more than $350,000 a year, derived entirely from the Chicago real estate and other property left by Mr. Palmer.

WILLIAM THOMAS ACQUITTED OF KILLING MAXEY SCOFIELD

The case of the State of Florida vs. Wm. Thomas, charged with the murder of Maxey Scofield, was resumed yesterday morning at 8:30, when the circuit court was called to order by Sheriff Fennell, pursuant to adjournment of the previous day, Judge Wills presiding.

The defendant was sworn in his own behalf and made the following statement:

Statement of Wm. Thomas.

Q. Do you remember last September when Mr. Scofield was at your house the day he was killed?

A. I do.

Q. Now, Mr. Thomas, go on and state to the court and jury just what occurred between you and Scofield on that occasion.

A. Well, I would like to say this—I could not make or explain the remarks exactly as they were, because the man said so much I cannot tell.

Q. Tell what occurred between you all—just as you remember—as near as you can.

A. Mr. Scofield and Frank Hodder were passing by the house; I had been away that morning and had just gotten home, and my teamsters had made a mistake in hauling some cross ties, fourteen ties from the niggers' woods, and I had come in and there had been some cross in regard to cross ties there before, because there were three or four men there in the tie business, and I was telling my teamsters that the next man who hauled a tie from any man's woods, unless my brand was on it, I would charge him for his day's work and the use of my mules and wagons that day, because there was no need of it. About that time Hodder and Scofield came along within about thirty feet—I suppose about thirty feet—and when they did, I spoke to Maxie and said, "Maxie, my teamsters made a mistake this morning and hauled fourteen of your ties, and as soon as they gear up, I will have them to put them back on your pile." He said "allright," and when he did—the language that he used, I would rather not use unless it is desirable—he said "Well, by God, since this has come up, we will settle the other"—and walked right on up to my gate. I was standing on my front porch with my left hand leaning against the post, and at the time Mr. Miller was settling the gate post. He was working in my yard at the time. When Miller got through he came in and sat down by the parlor post-veranda, and when he did, Maxie kept on, and said, "I suppose you accused me of stealing some of your ties." I said "Maxie, I never done it," and he said, "You are a G—d—liar," just that way. When he said this, I said, "Maxie you are wrong; I never accused you, and there is no need of any trouble; you can go away and get right and get your authority, and we can settle it without trouble." Then I told him "I don't want any trouble with you at my house, nor nowhere else—there is no need of it." He said "G—d—that, if I didn't want to have trouble at my house to come to his house with him," and I told him that I was not going with him; and he said, "Well, come half way," and I said "Maxie, I am not going." He was cursing all the while and going on. I cannot tell all that he said. At that period, when he told me to get my gun and go with him anywhere, or half way, he was standing with his pistol in his pocket, and his hand was on the pistol—had hold of the pistol. He never did take his hand off of the pistol. The first time that he took it out I could just see the handle; and when he took it out the second time he took it out far enough that I could see the cylinder and I could see the pistol. I stepped behind the post that I had my left hand on and told Maxie that I was not going with him anywhere and he told me "to get my G—d—old rusty shot gun or anything else that I had to use," and step out—that he didn't ask me to go anywhere; and when he said that, he kinder put his pistol back in his pocket, and when I did, just as soon as I thought I was safe, I turned as quick as I could and went into the house, just as fast as I could go. It was not more than six steps until I entered the first door. When I done that, I turned and went to the first front room of the house, and I heard this fellow Hodder tell him: "Come on Maxie, and lets go—he has done gone;" and Scofield repeated it again—said "I am a man from the top of my head to the bottom of my feet, and I ain't going to run from no G—d—man;" and when he did, I went into the house and stepped back, and I thought at the time that he was going away, but he made his arrangements and got his pistol and had it in that shape.

Q. While this altercation was going on, Mr. Scofield, at the gate there cursing, were there a number of people there?

A. Yes. Right at the time I went away. That was when he asked me if I would not go all the way, to go half way and he would settle it right there. I asked him right then—"Please"—that is the very word that I used—I said "Please, if you cannot respect me in my house, please respect my wife and children." That was at that time.

Q. Were your wife and children there? A. Yes sir.

Q. In the house? A. Yes sir.

Q. Were they where they could hear this profane language? A. Yes sir.

Q. You asked him, did you, that if he could not respect you, to have respect for your wife and children? A. Yes sir, I did.

Q. What did he say then? A. He said "G—d—that," as well as I remember, or "G—d—them"—I would not be positive about which he said—"them or that," but I think he said "G—d—that."

Q. He shoved his pistol back down into his pocket when you turned from the post on the porch to go into the house? A. Yes sir.

Q. When you next saw him where was he and where were you? A. He was standing with his left hand on the gate post like that (indicating) and I was standing at the front hall door.

Q. The door that leads to the porch? A. Yes sir.

Q. That was in plain view of the gate? A. Yes sir in plain view. He was standing at the gate with his left hand there against the post, and his pistol all out of his pocket, except about an inch—as near as I can tell.

Q. Which hand did he have that pistol in? A. In his right hand.

Q. Was he still talking, cursing, or was he doing anything at the time when you came back to the door? A. Yes sir.

Q. Now state what passed between you at that time? A. I just stepped out and told him—I said "Maxie, here it is," and he said, "By G—, let her come. I am ready."

Q. Then did you see him do anything? A. He was making all the efforts that he could with his gun.

Q. Was it at this time that you shot? A. Yes sir.

Q. Now from what had occurred between he and you, and from his actions and motions with the pistol at that time, did you at that time believe from those circumstances, that you were in danger of receiving bodily harm at the hands of Mr. Scofield? A. I did.

Q. It was for that reason, and for that reason alone, that you fired your gun? A. It was, yes sir.

Q. You believe, then, you say, from those circumstances, that you were in danger of suffering great bodily harm? A. I did.

Solicitor Rivers subjected the defendant to a rigid cross examination, but failed to shake his direct testimony in any material particular.

In Rebuttal.

At the conclusion of the statement of defendant the defense announced that it had concluded, and the prosecution began its rebuttal, L. T. Stringer being the first witness. He resided at Bell and was well acquainted with defendant and deceased. He was at the depot at Bell with Maxey Scofield on the Sunday afternoon preceding the killing; he was in close company with Scofield and Oscar Whitefield that afternoon, but he did not hear all the conversation between them. Scofield left the depot about an hour and a half by sun. He saw Scofield sitting on his mule talking to Whitefield, but did not hear what was said. Witness did not remember seeing Pipkin there that afternoon. In fact he was not positive about anything, and the defense did not consider his testimony of sufficient importance to cross examine him.

Both Sides Close.

The State and defense then announced that both sides closed and the attorneys were instructed to go to the jury, each side being given one hour and a half for argument. The taking of testimony was concluded at 10 a. m., and at 10:15 Col. Christopher Matheson opened the argument for the State, preceding his remarks by reading the indictment. Col. Matheson spoke for forty-five minutes, and made a plain, unimpassioned address, confining himself principally to a review of the evidence, especially contending that from the defendant's own statement he was not justified in taking the life of deceased.

Col. B. A. Thrasher

Followed Col. Matheson. He began his argument at 12 o'clock, and contended that the only evidence that Maxey Scofield had been killed was given by the defense. Like the attorney who preceded him, Col. Thrasher dwelt principally upon the evidence, but took a different view of the same. He grew quite impassioned at times, and contended that his client was justifiable in taking the life of Maxey Scofield.

Congressman Frank Clark.

Col. Thrasher spoke for 22 minutes only, leaving 23 minutes of his time for his eminent associate. Mr. Clark approached the issue in a solemn, dignified manner, particularly calling the attention of the jury to the power with which they were invested—the power to take human life—and the importance of their careful consideration of the case. He carefully reviewed the evidence from the standpoint of the defense, and paid considerable attention to the law of self-defense. He presented the side of his client in an able manner, and closed with an appeal to the jury to acquit the defendant and permit him to return to his wife and children. Col. Clark, according to the time kept by Judge Wills, spoke just one hour, and had seven minutes to his credit when he closed at 12:25 p. m., when the court took a recess until 2:15 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

Court reassembled at the appointed hour, 2:15, and State's Attorney Rivers began the closing argument for the prosecution, which was the final argument in the case. The manner in which he went over the testimony, from start to finish, showed that he had given the case careful consideration, and his presentation of the State's cause was considered as good

SCHMIDT, GRAFTING MAYOR, IS REMOVED

Formally Believed of Official Position by Supervisors.

JAS. GALLAGHER ACTING MAYOR

First Step Taken by Graft Prosecution
in the Execution of Their Plan to Restore Good Government in San Francisco, Cal.

San Francisco, Cal., June 19.—Mayor Schmitz was formally removed from office by the supervisors at their meeting Monday afternoon. Supervisor James Gallagher was named as acting mayor in his place.

This is the first step taken by the graft prosecution in the execution of their plan to restore good government in this city. The ground on which Mayor Schmitz was removed is that owing to his incarceration in the county jail following his conviction on a felony charge he is no longer able to perform his official duties.

Gallagher will not hold the position of acting mayor for more than a few days. The resignation of a certain member of the board of supervisors will make room for the appointment of a responsible citizen, who will take Gallagher's place, as acting mayor.

as could have been made under the circumstances. He closed at 3 o'clock, after which Judge Wills delivered his fair and impartial charge to the jury, and at 3:15 p. m. the twelve men, tried and true, retired to pass upon the fate of Wm. Thomas for killing Maxey Scofield.

Verdict of Acquittal.

After being out for a little more than an hour and the spreading of one ballot, the jury returned to the box and requested that the first clause of the charge be read to them again, after which they retired to the jury room, and at 6:30 o'clock returned a verdict of not guilty.

It is understood that three ballots were taken, the first two being eleven for acquittal, one for conviction, the third ballot being clear. Z. T. Sanders was foreman of the jury.

This verdict seems to meet with general public approval.

This has been one of the most interesting cases tried in this county for several years, as the parties interested are well known.

A Correction.

In reporting the testimony of Henry Lancaster in The Daily Sun yesterday morning the statement was made "that when he reached the body the pistol was about a foot or eighteen inches from it, instead of protruding from the pocket of the dead man." This was an error, as Mr. Lancaster also testified that the pistol was protruding from the deceased's pocket.

Vanderbilt Again Opens Purse.

Nashville, Tenn., June 19.—At the annual alumni dinner at Vanderbilt Monday night, Chancellor J. H. Kirkland announced another handsome contribution from the Vanderbilt family to the university. The newest contribution is one of $100,000, and comes from William K. Vanderbilt, grandson of the founder and the father of the Duchess of Marlborough. This contribution raises the aggregate gifts of the family to the university to nearly $2,000,000—$1,900,000 to be exact.

District Judge Denies Motion.

Denver, Colo., June 19.—District Judge Allen Monday denied the motion for a temporary injunction in the suit of Mrs. Jessie Falkenberg Fallis against the head officers of the Woodmen of the World to prevent the erection of a monument to the memory of former Head Consul Falkenberg. Judge Allen took occasion to rebuke the local lodge that supported the suit, declaring the matter should have been settled within the order.

There Are Few

People who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not.
The liver is a most important organ
in the body. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for

"Not Guilty" Says Foraker.

Washington, June 19.—Senator Foraker, of Ohio, has given out a written statement, summing up the testimony taken by the senate committee on military affairs in that it fails to show that any soldier took part in the affair. The statement which the senator says he makes is "plain duty to the truth, as well as to the accused soldiers," and because he is "more familiar with the testimony than anybody else," is in answer to a published statement that the testimony conclusively showed the soldiers of the Twenty-fifth battalion
did the shooting.

A Happy Mother

is necessary. Many babies suffer from worms and their mothers don't know it—if your baby is feverish and fuge will clean out these worms in a mild, pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price

The illa peculiar to women, take different forms.

Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express.

Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.

TUMULTUOUS SESSION.

Lively Debate Occurs in the French
Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, June 19.—The action of the government in determining to prosecute the agitators in the south of France led to a lively debate in the chamber of deputies Tuesday, but after a tumultuous session the cabinet
secured an indirect vote of confidence
by the large majority of 254.

Premier Clemenceau refused to agree to the immediate dissolution of parliament on the government's plans and demanded that the motion be postponed until June 26. In a speech which was frequently interrupted by noisy protests, he declared that all means of conciliation were now exhausted and that as chief of the ov-ernment he was bound to enforce respect for the law. The committee at Argyllores had set itself up in place of the central government. If the chamber defeated the postponement of the interpellation he would immediately countermand the prosecutions and the chamber would be responsible for the grave consequences.

The government's motion was finally adopted 412 to 158 votes.

Methodists Raise Large Sum.

London, June 19.—A remarkable scene in the centenary of the Primitive Methodists was witnessed Monday at the session of the conference at Leicester. It was proposed to inaugurate a thanksgiving fund and after a solemn dedicatory service, W.
P. Hartley, a prominent Methodist, offered $15,000. This was applauded with enthusiasm, after which delegate after delegate promised generous contributions. At the close of the meeting it was announced that these offerings with the pledges already made on behalf of the churches reached $1,350,000.

ASCOT RACES MOST BRILLIANT IN YEARS

King Edward and Queen Drive
In State From Windsor.

LARGE AMERICAN GATHERING

Hundreds of Fashionable Society People Visit the Famous Heath—Fabulous Prices Paid for the Rent of Houses.

Ascot, England, June 19.—Despite an overcast sky, the gathering at Ascot Heath Tuesday for the opening of the great four days' race meeting was the most brilliant of recent years.

The houses in the vicinity, for which fabulous rents are paid for a few days' use, turned hundreds of society people on to the famous heath, while thousands of others moved to London. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, with their guests, including the Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince and Princess Andrew, of Greece, drove in state from Windsor, where their majesties are entertaining a house party for the meeting.

There were ten carriages in the royal procession, which was preceded by an escort of cavalry and outriders, who made a brilliant spectacle as they passed the crowds of beautifully dressed women and their escorts on their ways to the royal house. On account of the rush of the recent year the strictest rules were enforced to prevent the uninvited from entering the enclosure, with the result that it was not so crowded as usual.

There was a large gathering of Americans, those receiving invitations to view the races from the royal enclosure being Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Reid and all the members of the United States embassy and their wives; Miss Carter, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Cass-Canfield, Ms. Ogden Mrs. Cass-Canfield, Mrs. Ogden Frank Mackay and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel.

Ambassador Smokes Peace Pipe with Quah Indian Chief.

Guthrie, Okla., June 19.—James Bryce, British ambassador, and his party, spent Tuesday in Guthrie as the guest of Governor and Mrs. Franz. Among other things, Mr. Bryce Monday smoked the peace pipe with Quah Parker, the company chief, and watched the Indians in their villages.

Mr. Bryce was quoted as making further comment upon the Oklahoma constitution:

"Your proposed constitution," he said, "seems to have a great many experimental ingredients in it. Some of the propositions have been tried and some are now in use in Switzerland, which I regard as the greatest democracy on earth."

The meeting will be convened in the morning and up to noon will be a public affair to which every one is invited. In the afternoon the union will take charge and only members will be admitted. A number of state officials are expected to be present and deliver addresses. The cotton warehouse for this county, which is to be built in this city, will also have attention and, it is thought, the plans will, at this time, be perfected.

TRAGEDY NEAR EATONTON, GA.

Supposed Assassination of Putnam County Farmer.

Eatonton, Ga., June 19.—Robert F. Adams, a prominent farmer living 8 miles east of this place, while at work in his field was shot down and left for dead. He lived long enough to crawl home and tell his family that he had been shot by the Jones boys, or one of them. They are three brothers, who, it is said, had sworn vengeance against Adams for killing four years ago Kiah Jones, a brother of theirs, for which Adams was tried and acquitted on grounds of self-defense.

The community and surrounding neighborhoods are greatly excited over the tragedy.

VENEZUELA "REBELLION PROOF"

President Castro Pleased with Conditions in His Country.

New Orleans, June 19.—Herbert B. Cates, a New York business man, who has just returned from Venezuela, has made public the gist of an interview he had recently with President Castro of Venezuela regarding the development of Venezuela.

President Castro told Mr. Cates that Venezuela is now "rebellion proof;" that an era of peace has come and that the next few years will witness the development of the natural resources of Venezuela.

"I was with him an hour," Mr. Cates said, "and during most of the time he talked of the country and its future. He told me that he is greatly pleased with the moral force the country showed during his illness. It convinced him, he said, that he was not feared as a dictator."

"In speaking of his scheme for developing the country, he said that plans were in mind for two railroads which are destined to open up the richest part of Venezuela."

"President Castro told me that after he had established everything at home on an absolutely stable basis, he will guarantee the investment of foreign capital and establish a strong bank to help exploit the natural resources of the country."

LOST IN THE WILDERNESS.

Hundreds of Men Searched for Baby Boy in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, June 19.—Toddling along in a wilderness of towering sage brush, his throat parched with a thirst of forty hours, his sturdy little legs torn and bleeding from briar thorns, the 19 months' old boy baby of Lawrence Marsh, residing near Caldwell, was found Tuesday alive and prattling to himself after a search which began with the child's disappearance on Saturday night and in which a posse of several hundred men was employed.

As Henry A. Hanthorn, one of the searchers, led his horse to where the boy was standing, the little fellow looked up wide-eyed at the strange man in blue flannel shirt and wide-brimmed hat and then at the horse.

"Pony; baby ride pony?" the youngster questioned, with glistening eyes.

"You bet you can; bless your little old heart," cried Hanthorn.

Don't Starve Your Hair

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice free. TO FORMULATE POLICY.

Representative Men Discuss Public Land Question at Denver.

Denver, Colo., June 19.—Called together for discussion of public land questions with a view to formulating a policy and urging legislation in accordance therewith, nearly one thousand representative citizens, representing all the trans-Missouri states, met in convention at the Broadway theater here Tuesday. From Washington have come James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior; Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry department; F. H. Newell, head of the reclamation service, and R. A. Ballinger, commissioner of the general land office, representing President Roosevelt, and prepared to give all possible information as to the policies of the administration regarding the control and regulation of the public lands.

The badge worn by the Colorado delegates was designed to furnish the keynote to the convention. It is inscribed as follows:

"Public lands were intended for home builders. We oppose interference by government bureaus under autocratic rules and regulations."

United States Senator Carter, of Montana, who was chosen as temporary chairman in caucus Monday night, made the following statement before the convention assembled regarding the position of President Roosevelt on the public land question:

"The president is irrevocably opposed, it seems, to the continuance of the free and unregulated range, but is not absolutely committed to any particular scheme for the accomplishment of this purpose. This is what he informed me. The policy, as I am informed by him, is the regulation of the public ranges of the west by the government."

"The president added that if it was found there were any harsh rules in force in the administration of policies, these harsh rules, not the policies, would be modified."

Convention Hardware Dealers.

Boston, June 19.—Joint annual conventions of the National Retail Hardware association and the New England Hardware Dealers Tuesday brought a number of those tradesmen to Boston. Brisk Fighting in Formosa.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

He Broke "Jim Crow" Car Law.

Fort Monroe, Va., June 19.—Charged with a breach of the "Jim Crow" street car law of Virginia, Captain W. J. Pigman, paymaster of the battleship Iowa, was a prisoner in the Hampton police court Monday. Captain Pigman declined to take another seat when asked to do so by a conductor on the line of the Newport News and Old Point Comfort Railway and Electric company. He was arrested, but allowed to give bail. Acting Mayor Richardson dismissed the case, but advised Captain Pigman to heed the requests of street car conductors in the future.

SWALLOWED CARBOLIC ACID.

Negro, Under Arrest, Takes His Life In Atlanta.

Atlanta, June 19.—Choosing to answer for his sins before the judgment of God in preference to arrest and trial by a court of justice, a negro who gave his name as John Williams ended his own life early Monday afternoon, after being caught red-handed to defraud the United States government through the paymaster of the department of the gulf, in the Candler building, by forging a soldier's final statement or bill for services.

The negro, who was sitting handcuffed in the paymaster's office while Major Dawes was explaining the charge to the arresting officer, suddenly took a bottle of carbolic acid from his coat pocket and succeeded in swallowing a good portion of the deadly poison before the officer and clerks could get to him.

The acid got into his eyes and badly burned his face, and he was carried to the Grady hospital in an unconscious and almost dying condition.

Antidotes were brought hurriedly, and every effort made to resuscitate the unconscious negro, but he did not regain consciousness. His death occurred within thirty minutes.

COLLISION ON SOUTHERN.

Flagman Killed and a Lady Passenger Injured.

Asheville, N. C., June 19.—One man killed, a woman passenger seriously and probably fatally injured, and a score of passengers shaken up and slightly bruised, was the result of a collision on the Southern railway Monday at Sylva, between the regular passenger train No. 19 and a freight engine, No. 19 was standing at Sylva station when the engine crashed into the rear end.

The flagman on the engine jumped and landed on his head, sustaining injuries that a few hours later resulted in his death.

Mrs. Grinstaff, the only passenger injured, was in the rear coach, and hearing the engine bearing down upon the train, became panic-stricken and jumped off the platform, almost directly under the wheels of the approaching engine, which struck her, cutting off one leg and otherwise injuring her.

Guava Jelly and Preserved Figs in Alachua County.

Twelve miles from Gainesville, to the south, in the midst of a busy truck-growing section, is the railway station of Tacoma, on the G. & G. A few minutes' walk from the depot, on the summit of a hill about 50 feet high, and over 100 feet above sea level, have been for more than twenty years the attractive residence, orange groves, fruit trees and fields of that well-known and energetic farmer, Mr. W. C. Smith. Although many of the orange trees were killed to the ground by the great frost of 1904-5, the dead trees have now been mostly replaced, and the groves have again taken on a promising appearance. On account of the unprecedented drought of the current year, there is but little fruit on either orange or guava trees and the crop of figs is much inferior to that of 1906. When the writer visited the farm, on June 17th, 1907, (and he wishes here to record his thanks for the kind hospitality shown him by Mr. Smith and his clever wife), the effects of the long drought were very evident. But a deep well was being sunk on the top of the hill, and if sufficient water is met with an aeromotor will be set up and future droughts defied.

The guava enclosure is on the summit of the hill. It is 100 feet square, and is surrounded by a close plank wall ten feet high, being entered by a door in the side. One hundred trees of the best cultivated varieties of the tropical guava are inside: the pear-shaped, the white, the green, and the yellow being represented. The young plants were obtained three years ago from Reasoner Bros. of Oneco. They were set out ten feet apart. They now form sturdy, well-branched trees, with fine clean limbs and large sappy leaves and twigs. They have to be sawn off above to keep them down to ten feet in height, so that in winter the whole enclosure can be protected by a roof, completely covering the top. Last year the side branches of the guavas met and quite filled the whole enclosure, giving a very large crop of fruit. But this year, after pruning, the drought has much lessened their growth. The writer has never seen in the West Indies such fine clean, well-grown plants, absolutely free from scale, insects or other pests.

The guavas are picked when ripe, boiled in water till soft, put into a cloth bag and the juice pressed out by a screw press. The juice is strained as it passes out, measured, and the right amount of the best granulated sugar (costing from 5½ to 6½ cents a pound) added. When the sugar has dissolved, the liquid is strained again and then evaporated down in a large tin-lined copper evaporating pan, over a blue flame gasolene stove. There is no need to stir. Practice is required to tell the right time to stop the evaporating. Three years' experience has shown that this is attained when large bubbles begin to form and burst on the surface. The pan has a faucet, and the trays of bottles or glasses are moved up and filled with the hot liquid in succession. The jelly produced is of good color, quite clear, but sticky nor too soft or tough, and of a flavor which is not impaired by any trace of smokiness. It is superior to any ordinary West India jelly and to the Cuban product put up in paper-lined, ornamented white-wood boxes. Last year more than 6,000 glasses of jelly were made from these trees. (Two tropical guava trees are growing in the open, near the house, but are boxed in during the winter, and, as in the case of those in the large enclosure, are warmed with oil heaters during frost. On account of having been supplied with waste kitchen water they are bearing well.) Several shrubs of the cattley or strawberry guava are growing in the open or in the enclosure. This guava bears small, round, purple fruits, which are agreeable to eat when fresh, but do not make such well-flavored jelly as the tropical guava. The small yellow Chinese guava, which is also growing in the open, yields a jelly from which the true guava flavor seems entirely absent. Some of the varieties of guava in the enclosure, especially the large white, are agreeable dessert fruits.

There are six large fig trees growing in the open, lower down the hill, on soil which experience has shown is not suited for oranges, being slightly clayey and apparently resting on a ferruginous subsoil. These trees were injured in the great frost of 1894-5. This year they did not start well in the spring, on account of the drought, and were cultivated and manured for the first time. They are of a fine spreading dome shape, well branched from the base. Two of them, measured by the writer, are 36 yards in circumference of spread, the branches being close and reaching to the ground. The variety which is used for preserving is called the Smyrna. It forms quite large figs, which are yellow when ripe. If the fruits are left on too long they may be eaten by the black crows, which have to be driven off or shot. (One or more of the six fig trees bore sugar figs and these turn brown when ripe. They are not so good for preserving, and were not used for that purpose.) As it is not possible to ship ripe figs any considerable distance, and the figs cannot well be dried in the sun on account of insects, and because they cannot compete, if dried, with those figs which have been fertilized by the fig wasp (such as the dried figs now produced in California) the alternative is to preserve them in syrup. The figs are picked when firm, and just beginning to turn yellow. (There is something in the fresh figs, perhaps the milky juice, which is irritating to the skin, and it may be best to wear rubber gloves while handling the fruit.) The figs are first boiled in water for one hour, to remove all acidity. The water is strained off and the figs boiled for from two to two and a half hours in strong syrup made from white granulated sugar. This syrup is made as strong as it can be made without crystallizing. The figs are then put, while hot, into glass bottles with screw caps. Figs thus treated form an excellent preserve, which deserves and will doubtless attain wide popularity. Last year, at Tacoma, more than a hundred-weight of figs was gathered from each fig tree.

There seems to be a good demand for domestic guava jelly in the United States, since the foreign product, besides being usually heavily taxed, is not uniform in quality, and being made carelessly and often with wood for fuel with inferior sugar, is not seldom smoky or otherwise of poor flavor or consistence. Figs well preserved in syrup seem to be superior to the dried article. There appears to be a likelihood that, with the whole of the United States to supply, the preparation of figs in syrup might be profitably extended in Florida. Where fig trees do not do well a heavy mulch of perhaps moss, or of water hyacinth, might be tried.

Late of the Imperial Department of Agriculture, British West Indies.

Judge J. C. Pollock, in the United States District Court at Leavenworth, Kansas, on the 17th inst., in the case of the Kansas Brewing Company asking an injunction to prevent C. W. Trickett, assistant attorney-general of Kansas, from seizing liquors in transit from Missouri to Kansas, held that where the sale of liquors is made in good faith in a foreign State, the seller had the privilege under the federal laws regulating interstate commerce to deliver the same in Kansas, and either collect in Kansas at the time of delivery, or in Missouri at the place of sale.

OUR ICONOCLASTIC PRESIDENT.

One important Memorial Day address has been somewhat overlooked in which Lieutenant-Governor Sherman of Illinois pointedly attacked some of President Roosevelt's policies, and especially his attempt to dictate to Congress and overthrow States rights and home rule. "The crying lawlessness of the age," said Gov. Sherman, "is the gradual weakening of the legislative branch of the Government. We need not denounce the cause. We deplore the fact. The cause may be the personality of its members. It may be the insidious attacks of the executive from time to time. The legislative originally was the strongest and most representative. It is so no longer."

"The State governments are powerful agencies to train the citizen to an appreciation and understanding of civic duties, either in State or general Government. The State cannot be reduced to a mere outlying Federal province, dependent upon the general Government for its general local welfare."

Such advice from a Republican official shows that there is a deep undercurrent swirling to the surface for the Democratic policy of the freedom of the representatives of the people from executive dictation, and the resuscitation of the reserved rights of the States and home rule.

This Republican protest against the "insidious attacks of the executive" and "the usurpation of those in power, drunk with the lust of official might," as Governor Sherman puts it, is a much more caustic criticism of the acts of President Roosevelt than has come from any Democrat.

Politically it is very important, as Governor Sherman is a close friend of Speaker Cannon, and would hardly have made this attack without his counsel or consent. The old school Lincoln Republicans are evidently combined to prevent the dictation of their present strenuous but erratic chief.

Democrats have long viewed with alarm the iconoclastic policies that have been fostered by the Roosevelt faction of the Republican party, that in the name of reform is attempting to tear down the constitutional edifice reared by the fathers of the Republic without even insuring a solid foundation for the centralization they plan in its place.

While President Roosevelt is given full credit for his adoption of some Democratic policies it is feared that the effect of his Hamiltonian false doctrines will bring disaster. The fact is that President Roosevelt is an opportunist ready to grasp at any bubble that rises to the surface of the political pond that he thinks will aid Roosevelt renown.

Representatives Reese of Escambia and Rowe of Madison will ask for an injunction enjoining the payment of the $30,000 appropriation to aid the Tampa Fair Association in holding a State fair in the years 1907 and 1908.

"Mere man knows one seven-billionth of one per cent about anything," says Thomas Edison. Still, there is George Bernard Shaw, to whom we may turn when in doubt. He knows the rest of it.

If Mr. Roosevelt ever has anything to say about the fish prevaricators we know of a Princeton man who will call on Webster's dictionary for an overwhelming reply.

In one particular Alachua county is always behind every other county in the State—the publication of the delinquent tax list.

WOMEN PIRATES.

The Extraordinary Career of Anne Bonney and Mary Read.

Women who have succeeded in passing themselves off as men have been found out from time to time ever since the beginning of history. Some have evaded detection for years, but eventually their sex has been discovered. One of the best known cases of this sex deception was practiced by two women, Anne Bonney and Mary Read, who were captured about a century ago in the Caribbean sea and taken prisoners, charged with "having piratical intentions." With half a score of men they were sentenced and were about to be executed when they confessed their sex and were eventually reprieved.

Anne Bonney was the daughter of a Carolina planter and had been banished and disowned by her parents for having married a sailor. The marriage was an elopement, Anne having donned man's clothing in order to escape detection. Later she shipped as one of her husband's crew and took part in all of her husband's exploits and piratical adventures. Among her shipmates, who were ignorant of her sex and her true relation to the captain, named Rackham, she was deemed courageous and full of spirit.

The ship on which this female pirate was sailing was boarded one day by several strangers, one among them being another pirate of the gentler sex, whose name was Mary Read. The two masqueraders became intimate friends, though each was ignorant at first of the other's real sex. They discovered each other, however, some time later.

Mary Read began life under unusual circumstances. She was brought up as a boy, was made to wear boy's clothing and was looked upon by everybody as a boy. When Mary grew up, she became in turn a foot boy, a sailor, a soldier and later the wife of her comrade in war. When her real sex was discovered by the regiment, Mary, with her new husband, set up a hostelry called the "Three Horseshoes." Their story having become known throughout France, the country in which Mary lived at the time of her marriage to the cavalry comrade, they attracted hosts of patrons, and the business flourished for awhile.

After the death of her husband, a few years later, Mary shipped on a Dutch vessel to the West Indies, and it was there that she met Anne Bonney, the other female pirate, and joined a buccaneer crew. Both women were admired for the courage they displayed in this uncertain game, and both were loved by their fellow companions. Mary Read was an expert swordswoman and fought many a duel. She died in a prison cell. Anne Bonney was restored to her family after the pirate ship commanded by Captain Rackham was captured.—New York Herald.

To tell our own secrets is generally folly, but that folly is without guilt. To communicate those with which we are intrusted is always treachery, and treachery for the most part combined with folly.—Johnson.

The bounty of nature is too little for the greedy man.—Seneca.

Beneficent epidemics are scarce, but such a one has struck Gainesville, and people of every station and occupation have the fever.

It is most interesting and instructive to study the constantly changing line of applicants for Pocket Banks as it files through The Sun's business office. There is the mother, bringing her daughter with her and securing a bank for the girl, another for herself, and inquiring anxiously whether she may have another for the boy who is at work. She receives it promptly.

Boys come—some are steady, serious-faced chaps who have begun to think on their own account, and who ask questions about the operation of the scheme which show the results of rubbing up against the world.

Then the High School girls and boys, gay and active, while the workman and business man "slip in" during the noon hour to get a bank for the boy or girl at home, after asking one or two leading questions to make sure there is no joke about the 25 cents.

In the meantime Mr. Steckert says he will be perfectly satisfied to "keep house" at home.

An Enjoyable Function.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the season was a lawn party and watermelon feast given by a number of young people at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vidal, East Gainesville, Tuesday evening.

There were about sixteen present, and the party enjoyed a number of the most luscious melons seen here this season.

The lawn was decorated with illuminated Japanese lanterns, making a very pretty effect.

Although this function came almost in the nature of a surprise, those present are under obligations to Miss Leonora Vidal, who retained her reputation as a clever hostess.

Among the prominent visitors to this city is Hon. S. W. Williams of New Orleans, a special agent of the general land office, who is making a tour of inspection in this section of the country. Col. Williams was here on a tour of inspection two years ago, at which time many of our citizens had the pleasure of meeting him. He compliments the city very highly on its rapid advancement, commercially and otherwise, since his last visit.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

WILLIAM THOMAS ACQUITTED OF KILLING MAXEY SCOFIELD

Court convened at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, pursuant to adjournment of previous day, when the work of procuring a jury to try the case of William Thomas, charged with the murder of Maxey Scofield, was proceeded with.

One after another peremptory challenges were exercised by the State and defense, until when the twelve men had been selected and accepted by both sides the State had exhausted its ten challenges and the defense had one remaining challenge left.

The jury, as finally empanelled, is as follows: J. Benton, H. Strickland, W. R. Brice, Thos. Rogers, D. A. Prevatt, H. J. Bailey, D. G. Roland, M. E. Jolly, Z. M. Sanders, C. N. Merry, O. A. Wiggins, John W. Harris.

The jury was sworn and placed in charge of the balliff a few minutes to twelve o'clock, when an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock p. m., Miss Eloise Halle having been sent for to take the testimony.

Afternoon Session.

Promptly at 2 o'clock Judge Willis reconvened court, and the taking of testimony was begun.

Frank Hodder was sworn by the State, and in effect testified as follows: Witness and Maxey Scofield were passing defendant's house on Sept. 24th, 1906, when the latter called to Scofield and said to him that his men had hauled some of his (Scofield's) ties by mistake and placed them on his pile, but as soon as the teams were hitched up after dinner he would have them hauled back to Scofield's pile. The latter replied that was all right, but that he understood he (Thomas) had accused him of stealing his ties, and that if he or any other man said he had stolen ties he was a d— liar. Thomas replied that he had not accused him of stealing ties, that if he would not respect him to respect his family; to go away, as he did not wish to have any trouble with him. Scofield told Thomas to get his gun and go home with him and they would settle it. Thomas replied that he would not go anywhere, and started into the house, whistling. Witness then turned and walked off and asked Scofield to come on; the latter replied he was not going anywhere. After the witness had proceeded a few steps he heard the report of a gun, but did not turn his head to see what had happened, nor did he quicken his pace, but proceeded on to Fowler's store. When he last saw Scofield he had his right hand on the gatepost. Witness did not see any pistol in Scofield's hand when he turned away from him. It took considerable questioning on the part of Judge Carter, leading counsel for the defense, to draw out certain testimony from the witness.

Hubert Simmons

Was next sworn by the State. In the main his testimony corroborated that of Mr. Hodder. He was a little more explicit, however, about the language used by Scofield, etc., and said when Thomas appeared at the door with his gun he said: "Here she is, Maxey, take a good look at her." Thomas then fired and Scofield fell to the ground. He said Scofield's pistol was protruding from his right hand breeches pocket (not hip) when he saw him on the ground.

Henry Lancaster

Clerk of the circuit court, Lafayette county, was next sworn by the State. He was at Bell on the day of the killing, and was one of the first to reach the body of Maxey Scofield after he was shot by Wm. Thomas. Mr. Lancaster's testimony was along the same line of the other two witnesses, except that he said Scofield was very boisterous and threatening.

Evidence Struck

Miss Alice Starling was called to the stand by the State. Solicitor Rivers asked her if she had heard Thomas make any threat against Scofield prior to the killing. Defendant's counsel objected, but objection was overruled and exception noted. Miss Starling then said that about three weeks before the killing she heard Thomas say he expected there might be trouble between him and Scofield. Defendant's counsel then moved to strike the testimony of this witness, on the ground that it was too vague. Judge Willis granted the motion without further argument, and Miss Starling was excused.

M. T. Waters

Testified that he reached the body of Scofield from three to ten minutes after the shooting, being about seventy-five yards from the scene of the killing. He found Scofield flat on his back, his arms outstretched and pistol protruding from pocket. Several people were around the body when he arrived. He was constable of the district and had been sent for by the defendant.

Justice of Peace Testifies

S. O. Barron, justice of the peace for the Bell district, was sworn. He found the body of deceased in same position as Constable Waters said he found it, also the pistol.

Justice Barron said he did not know whether defendant had sent for him or not, that Constable Waters asked him to go along. Thomas said to him that he was not trying to get away and wanted the matter settled at once.

The State Rests.

At this point Solicitor Rivers held an exceedingly brief consultation with his assistant, Col. C. Matheson, and announced that "the State rests."

Judge Syd L. Carter then stated to the court that he desired a few moments in which to consult with his associates, Congressman Frank Clark, Col. B. A. Thrasher and Col. Evans Halle, which was granted and the attorneys retired with their client to one of the ante rooms.

Upon returning from their consultation counsel for defense called

Herbert Whitefield

As their first witness, who testified that he resided at Bell on the day of the killing of Scofield by Thomas. Witness was at his grandmother's, in plain view of defendant's house, when the tragedy occurred. He could hear the conversation between Thomas and Scofield, but could not hear all that was said. He saw Maxey Scofield standing near Thomas' gate and saw him with his right hand on his pistol at different times during the conversation; deceased was waving his left hand at times in a gesticulating manner. He never pulled the pistol entirely out of his pocket at any time, but when Thomas fired he had it partly out. Witness said he had married a distant cousin of defendant.

John Miller

Was next called. He was on the porch of Thomas' house with defendant on the day of the killing. He was at work for Thomas and came upon the porch shortly after Scofield stopped at the gate. Scofield was using profane language and was angry; the only obstruction between witness and deceased was a picket fence. He saw Scofield with his right hand on his pistol, partly drawn from his pocket, his left hand resting upon the paling. Witness corroborated the other evidences as to the words about the ties; that Thomas told defendant to leave the place, etc.; that Scofield told Thomas to get his gun and get ready if he would not go home with him to go half way, and they would settle it. He was looking straight in Scofield's face when Thomas fired the shot. On cross examination witness could not say whether the pistol deceased had was a blue steel or bright one, but it was partly bright. When Scofield fell witness picked up his hatchet and went to postoffice. He did not go to where the body lay.

Marion Pipkins

Was tolerably well acquainted with the deceased, Maxey Scofield. He saw him at the depot at Bell on the Sunday prior to his death. Witness and Scofield were talking about cross ties, when the latter told him there would be no future, hereafter for Mr. Thomas after Monday, as he was going to kill the d—. On cross examination witness said he did not tell Thomas of the threats until sometime after the killing, because he had not seen him. The conversation between witness and Scofield was brought about on account of some cross ties. He never had been tried for or convicted of any crime.

Threats Corroborated.

Oscar Whitefield testified to about the same thing regarding the threats Scofield made against Thomas on Sunday, the 23rd of September, as related by Pipkins, stating that Scofield said Thomas had accused him of stealing his ties and he was going to kill him, using very profane language. On cross examination witness said he had told Breck Thomas about the threats. He had had some trouble with Scofield eight or nine days before the killing, but held no malice against him and continued in his employ the same as if nothing had occurred between them. Pipkins and Parish were also present when Scofield made the threat.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session the court adjourned until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The case of the State of Florida vs. Wm. Thomas, charged with the murder of Maxey Scofield, was resumed yesterday morning at 8:30, when the circuit court was called to order by Sheriff Fennell, pursuant to adjournment of the previous day, Judge Willis presiding.

The defendant was sworn in his own behalf and made the following statement:

Statement of Wm. Thomas.

Q. Do you remember last September when Mr. Scofield was at your house the day he was killed?

A. I do.

Q. Now, Mr. Thomas, go on and state to the court and jury just what occurred between you and Scofield on that occasion.

A. Well, I would like to say this—I could not make or explain the remarks exactly as they were, because the man said so much I cannot tell.

Q. Tell what occurred between you all—just as you remember—as near as you can.

A. Mr. Scofield and Frank Hodder were passing by the house; I had been away that morning and had just gotten home, and my teamsters had made a mistake in hauling some cross ties, fourteen ties from the niggers' woods, and I had come in and there had been some cross in regard to cross ties there before, because there were three or four men there in the business, and I was telling my teamsters that the next man who hauled a tie from any man's woods, unless my brand was on it, I would charge him for his day's work and the use of my mules and wagons that day, because there was no need of it. About that time Hodder and Scofield came along within about thirty feet—I suppose about thirty feet—and when they did, I spoke to Maxie and said, "Maxie, my teamsters made a mistake this morning and hauled fourteen of your ties, and as soon as they gear up, I will have them to put them back on your pile." He said "alright," and when he did—the language that he used, I would rather not use unless it is desirable—he said "Well, by God, since this has come up, we will settle the other"—and walked right on up to my gate. I was standing on my front porch with my left hand leaning against the post, and at the time Mr. Miller was settling the gate post. He was working in my yard at the time. When Miller got through he come in and sat down by the parlor post-veranda, and when he did, Maxie kept on, and said, "I suppose you accused me of stealing some of your ties." I said "Maxie, I never done it," and he said, "You are a G— d— liar," just that way. When he said this, I said, "Maxie you are wrong; I never accused you, and there is no need of any trouble; you can go away and get right and get your authority, and we can settle it without trouble." Then I told him "I don't want any trouble with you at my house, nor nowhere else—there is no need of it." He said "G— d— that, if I didn't want to have trouble at my house to come to his house with him," and I told him that I was not going with him; and he said, "Well, come half way," and I said "Maxie, I am not going." He was cursing all the while and going on. I cannot tell all that he said. At that period, when he told me to get my gun and go with him anywhere, or half way, he was standing with his pistol in his pocket, and his hand was on the pistol—had hold of the pistol. He never did take his hand off of the pistol. The first time that he took it out I could just see the handle; and when he took it out the second time he took it out far enough that I could see the cylinder and I could see the pistol. I stepped behind the post that I had my left hand on and told Maxie that I was not going with him anywhere and he told me "to get my G— d— old rusty shot gun or anything else that I had to use," and step out—that he didn't ask me to go anywhere; and when he said that, he kinder put his pistol back in his pocket, and when I did, just as soon as I thought I was safe, I turned as quick as I could and went into the house, just as fast as I could go. It was not more than six steps until I entered the first door. When I done that, I turned and went to the first front room of the house, and I heard this fellow Hodder tell him: "Come on Maxie, and lets go—he has done gone," and Scofield repeated it again—said "I am a man from the top of my head to the bottom of my feet, and I ain't going to run from no G— d— man;" and when he did, I went into the house and stepped back, and I thought at the time that he was going away, but he made his arrangements and got his pistol and had it in that shape.

Q. While this altercation was going on, Mr. Scofield, at the gate there cursing, were there a number of people there?

A. Yes. Right at the time I went away. That was when he asked me if I would not go all the way, to go half way and he would settle it right there. I asked him right then—"Please"—that is the very word that I used—I said "Please, if you cannot respect me in my house, please respect my wife and children." That was at that time.

Q. Were your wife and children there? A. Yes sir.

Q. In the house? A. Yes sir.

Q. Were they where they could hear this profane language? A. Yes sir.

Q. You asked him, did you, that if he could not respect you, to have respect for your wife and children? A. Yes sir, I did.

Q. What did he say then? A. He said "G— d— that," as well as I remember, or "G— d— them"—I would not be positive about which he said—"them or that," but I think he said "G— d— that."

Q. He shoved his pistol back down into his pocket when you turned from the post on the porch to go into the house? A. Yes sir.

Q. When you next saw him where was he and where were you? A. He was standing with his left hand on the gate post like that (indicating) and I was standing at the front hall door.

Q. The door that leads to the porch? A. Yes sir.

Q. That was in plain view of the gate? A. Yes sir in plain view. He was standing at the gate with his left hand there against the post, and his pistol all out of his pocket except about an inch—as near as I can tell.

Q. Which hand did he have the pistol in? A. In his right hand.

Q. Was he still talking, cursing, or was he doing anything at the time when you came back to the door? A. Yes sir.

Q. Now state what passed between you at that time? A. I just stepped out and told him—I said "Maxie, here it is," and he said, "By G—, let her come. I am ready."

Q. Then did you see him do anything? A. He was making all the efforts that he could with his gun.

Q. Was it at this time that you shot? A. Yes sir.

Q. Now from what had occurred between he and you, and from his actions and motions with the pistol at that time, did you at that time believe from those circumstances, that you were in danger of receiving bodily harm to the hands of Mr. Scofield? A. I did.

Q. It was for that reason, and for that reason alone, that you fired your gun? A. It was, yes sir.

Q. You believe, then, you say from those circumstances, that you were in danger of suffering great bodily harm? A. I did.

Solicitor Rivers subjected the defendant to a rigid cross examination but failed to shake his direct testimony in any material particular.

In Rebuttal.

At the conclusion of the statement of defendant the defense announced that it had concluded, and the prosecution began its rebuttal. L. T. Stringer being the first witness. He resided at Bell and was well acquainted with defendant and deceased. He was at the depot at Bell with Maxey Scofield on the Sunday afternoon preceding the killing; he was in close company with Scofield and Oscar Whitefield that afternoon, but he did not hear all the conversation between them. Scofield left the depot about an hour and a half by sun. He saw Scofield sitting on his mule talking to Whitefield, but did not hear what was said. Witness did not remember seeing Pipkin there that afternoon. In fact he was not positive about anything, and the defense did not consider his testimony of sufficient importance to cross examine him.

Both Sides Close.

The State and defense then announced that both sides closed and the attorneys were instructed to go to the jury, each side being given one hour and a half for argument. The taking of testimony was concluded at 10 a. m., and at 10:15 Col. Christopher Matheson opened the argument for the State, preceding his remarks by reading the indictment. Col. Matheson spoke for forty-five minutes, and made a plain, unimpassioned address, confining himself principally to a review of the evidence, especially contending that from the defendant's own statement he was not justified in taking the life of deceased.

Col. B. A. Thrasher

Followed Col. Matheson. He began his argument at 12 o'clock, and contended that the only evidence that Maxey Scofield had been killed was given by the defense. Like the attorney who preceded him, Col. Thrasher dwelt principally upon the evidence, but took a different view of the same. He grew quite impassioned at times, and contended that his client was justifiable in taking the life of Maxey Scofield.

Congressman Frank Clark

Col. Thrasher spoke for 23 minutes only, leaving 23 minutes of his time for his eminent associate. Mr. Clark approached the issue in a solemn, dignified manner, particularly calling

SUMMER NORMAL OPENED MONDAY

State Superintendent Holloway
and Others Made Good Talks.

ATTENDANCE WILL BE LARGE

School Will be Under Direction of Dr.
W. F. Yocum, Who Has a Splendid Faculty—Session Will be Held at Gainesville Graded and High School.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun.

The Summer normal school for 1907 opened at the Gainesville Graded and High School building Monday morning with a large number of pupils in attendance, coming from every section of the State.

The meeting was opened with prayer and an address by Rev. T. J. Nixon, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Nixon was followed by Dr. J. L. Kelley, superintendent of Public Instruction of Alachua county, who, in his usual clever manner, welcomed the teachers to Gainesville in behalf of the school board, and bid them welcome to his office at all times. Dr. Kelley is a fine and pleasing speaker, and his remarks were received with a great deal of appreciation.

Hon. W. M. Holloway, State superintendent of Public Instruction, was present, and made a few interesting remarks. He complimented the teachers as a whole, remarking that Florida enjoyed the reputation of having the best teachers on an average in the South. He hoped and believed that this would prove one of the most beneficial normals ever held in the State.

Dr. Andrew Siedd, president of the University of Florida, made a nice talk, which proved quite interesting. Dr. Siedd welcomed the students on behalf of the University, assuring them that he was glad to have them here, and offering any assistance it was possible for him to give.

Dr. Yocum, the principal, made a few remarks on the normal and its work. He is one of the leading educators of the State, and proposes to make a good showing of this year's normal.

J. F. Bunch was present, and in behalf of the Baptist Young People's Christian Union extended a cordial invitation to the students to attend a reception at the home of Hon. J. M. Rivers from 8 to 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, which was accepted with thanks.

The normal starts off with the best prospects, and it is believed that it will prove one of the most successful in the history of the State. Indications are that it will be largely attended and before the end of the term there may be 250 students enrolled.

The sessions will be held in the Gainesville Graded and High School building, being more convenient to the faculty and students.

THE WALDO MEETING.

Rev. Mr. Crumpton of Baptist Church
Has Had Fine Meeting.

Rev. Mr. Crumpton, who has been conducting a service at the Baptist church in Waldo for the past few weeks, has enjoyed a most gratifying record, having made many converts since the meeting opened.

Mr. Crumpton is a preacher of pleasing manner and impressive speech, and has succeeded in interesting many during the meetings, many of whom have given their hearts to God, and who have resolved to lead a better life.

The meeting was closed Sunday, when fifteen went forward and signified their willingness to be baptised by admission of faith. It was a glorious occasion and Mr. Crumpton felt well repaid for what he had accomplished there.

THE FOURTH AT WINDSOR.

Good People of That Section Will Show Their Patriotism.

Information comes from Windsor that the good people of that section will show their patriotism on the Glorious Fourth by holding a basket picnic on the romantic shores of Newnan's lake.

The people of Windsor and the East End are a patriotic set, and will no doubt arrange a fine program for the day. A cordial invitation is extended to the public, and a big crowd is expected upon that occasion.

BLACK, ITCHING SPOTS ON FACE

Physicians Called It Eczema in Worst Form—Treated Disease
for a Year but Could Not Cure It
—Patient Became Despondent—Suffering Promptly Allayed and

DREADFUL DISEASE CURED BY CUTICURA

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black blotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of annoyance and suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for the same for the length of one year, but the treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. Shortly afterwards, my husband in reading a copy of a weekly New York paper saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies. He purchased the entire outfit, and after using the contents of the first bottle of Cuticura Resolvent in connection with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the breaking out entirely stopped. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every blotch was entirely gone and the affected parts were left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago. The Cuticura Remedies not only cured me of that dreadful disease, eczema, but of other complicated troubles as well, and I have been the means of others being cured of the same disease by the Cuticura Remedies, and I don't hesitate in saying that Cuticura Resolvent is the best blood medicine that the world has ever known. Mrs. Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala., Oct. 28, 1905."

MR. BISHOP WAS HERE.

Former Citizen of Alachua County
Pleased With Our Advancement

Among the prominent visitors to this city Friday was R. J. Bishop of DeLand, who made The Sun an appreciated call. He accompanied his daughter, Miss Mattie, who was en route to Romeo to visit her brother, as far as Gainesville.

Mr. Bishop is well known and popular in this county, having resided in Wade for a number of years. He is now engaged in the navel stores business at Eldridge, Volusia county, with great success.

Mr. Bishop expressed himself as being surprised at the rapid development of Gainesville since his departure from this county. He admired especially the miles of elegant sidewalks and streets, the handsome buildings, etc., and congratulated the city and her energetic citizens.

Mr. Bishop left on the afternoon train for his home, after having renewed old acquaintance with a number of his friends here.

Mr. Harper Buys Property.

A. R. Harper, the piano dealer, evidently has faith in Gainesville and her future, as he has recently purchased through A. O. Steenburg two handsome lots in East Gainesville, fronting on North Roper avenue.

These lots are each 88x135 feet, and are among the most desirable building lots in that section of the city. It is not known at present whether Mr. Harper intends to build or not, but it is supposed that he will erect a nice home.

It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

WATER COMMITTEE DRILLING WELLS

The Situation at the Waterworks is Becoming Serious.

THE SPRINGS ARE DEFICIENT

It is impossible to supply the City
With Water for All Purposes, but
It is Hoped With Additional Wells
to Have Sufficiency.

Realizing that the water supply of Boulware Springs, which is the source from which Gainesville gets its water, is low and inadequate, the City Council, through the water committee, is endeavoring to remedy the deficiency by sinking wells.

Contractor Lewis, one of the most competent well drillers in the State, has been working for several days on a well at Boulware Springs, and is making good progress. He has reached a considerable depth, and expects a good flow when water is finally reached.

The well now being sunk is six inches in diameter, and will make a good yield when completed. It is understood that three wells will be drilled, which should be ample to supply the demand, considering the supply being furnished by the flowing springs.

This work is being done under the supervision of E. E. Cannon, chairman of the water committee of the City Council.

NEWBERRY IS PROSPEROUS.

Dr. Howell and Other Citizens Propose to Rebuild at Once.

Dr. E. B. Howell of Newberry is in the city. Dr. Howell was a heavy loser in the recent Newberry fire, having lost a modern, up-to-date building containing two store-rooms.

He is not discouraged, however, and will rebuild at once. He has placed an order for material, and will this time erect a handsome brick building, 50x100, with sixteen rooms on the second floor for sleeping purposes.

Dr. Howell states that the property owners of Newberry are preparing to erect much handsomer and more substantial buildings in the place of those burned. In addition to his own building, J. A. Pickett is preparing to erect a brick store 25x60 feet, Postmaster A. C. Reed will build a handsome block of brick, and Dr. J. F. Ruff will replace his former building of artificial stone. This building will contain four stores of good dimension, which it is said have been leased already.

Mrs. Lillie Kitchen, another property owner who lost heavily by the fire, proposes to at once rebuild with brick. Mrs. Kitchen's building will be modern in every way, and will contain two large store-rooms.

In all there are thirteen store-rooms now under contemplation in Newberry, and when the town is rebuilt it will be seen that the fire, though quite a misfortune, proved a good thing.

JOINS METHODIST CHOIR.

Addition of Dr. Harry Pearce, Violinist, Adds a Great Deal.

The choir at the First Methodist church has always been a good one, but that organization has been recently improved by the addition of Dr. Harry L. Pearce, who has joined with his violin.

Dr. Pearce is a violinist of note, being a graduate in music. His work will be thoroughly appreciated in the church, and will add a great deal to the music.

Dr. Pearce's violin music has been heard and appreciated by the best musicians of this section of the State. His work is thorough, giving the best effect possible, and altogether there has been a general appreciation of his work here.

The addition of Dr. Pearce to the choir will have a tendency to increase the attendance at the First Methodist church.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers.

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

WORKING WOMEN, WHAT THEY SHOULD KNOW

MRS. SADIE ABBOTT

MRS. FREE MCKITTRICK

Women for the most part spend their lives at home, and it is these women who are willing and ambitious that their homes shall be kept neat and pretty, their children well dressed and tidy, who do their own cooking, sweeping, dusting and often washing, ironing and sewing for the entire family, who call for our sympathy.

Truly the work of such a woman is "never done" and is it any wonder that she breaks down at the end of a few years, the back begins to ache, there is a displacement, inflammation or ulceration of the abdominal organs, a female weakness is brought on, and the struggle of that wife and mother to continue her duties is pitiful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, is the exact medicine a woman needs whose strength is overtaxed. It keeps the feminine organs in a strong and healthy condition. In preparing for childbirth and recuperating therefrom it is most efficient. It carries a woman safely through the change of life and in making her strong and well assists her to be a good wife and mother.

Mrs. Sadie Abbott, of Jeannette, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"I suffered severely with pain every month and also a pain in my left side. My doctor prescribed for me but did me no good; a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I wrote you in regard to my condition. I followed your advice and am a perfectly well woman. The pains have all disappeared and I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail

Mrs. Free McKittrick, of La Fayette, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:
"For six years I suffered from female weakness. I was so irregular that I would go from three weeks to six months, so I thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.
"Now I am once more well and can do my work without a pain. Any one who wishes can write to me and I will answer all letters gladly."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female illness. Every suffering woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female illness Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

JOHN SMITH TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Jury Found Him Guilty of Murder, But Recommended Mercy.

ONLY FEW MOMENTS

Smith Killed His Step-Father in Row at Clark in December of the Past Year, and Has Since Been in Alachua County Jail.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun.

"We, the jury, find the defendant, John Smith, alias John Martin, guilty of murder in the first degree, and make the recommendation of the mercy of the court."

That was the verdict of the jury, of which J. H. Jarvis was foreman, in the case of the State of Florida vs. John Smith, alias John Martin, charged with the murder of his step-father, Edward Jordan, near Clark, on December 3, 1906.

The defendant took the judgment poorly—in fact, he appeared to be perfectly satisfied with the finding of the jury, since his neck has been shaved.

The defendant was arraigned in the morning and pleaded not guilty, whereupon a jury was called and sworn and the testimony began. The entire day until late in the afternoon was taken up in testimony and argument, the case going to the jury at a late hour. It required only a short deliberation of the jury, however, to bring in the verdict as stated above.

There was no other business of importance transacted by the court during the day, and upon the rendering of this verdict the court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

This morning the case of the State vs. Wm. Thomas for the murder of Maxey Scofield at Willeford will be taken up. There will be many witnesses in this case, and the indications are that it will require the remainder of the week.

PROF. HOLLOWAY HERE.

State Superintendent Pays Visit to His Friends in Gainesville.

Among the prominent visitors to Gainesville within the past two or three days was Hon. W. M. Holloway, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who was en route to his home at Tallahassee from Brooksville, and who stopped over to attend the opening of the summer normal.

Prof. Holloway's numerous friends were glad at an opportunity to meet him again, and he expressed himself as being pleased at an opportunity to stop. He is looking well, and indications are that the old red hills of the State capitol agree with him.

Prof. Holloway was present at the opening of the summer normal in the morning, leaving Gainesville on the afternoon train for home.

COLORED WOMAN INSANE.

Evelyn Williams of High Springs to Be Taken to Chattahoochee.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun.

Evelyn Williams, a colored woman of High Springs who has been regarded very highly by both the white and colored people of that town, was brought to Gainesville Monday, having been adjudged insane by a committee. The woman is desperate, and her condition is regretted by her friends.

An attendant is expected today or tomorrow to take the unfortunate woman to the hospital for the insane at Chattahoochee.

NEWS FROM SANTA FE.

Relatives of Eli Futch Will Meet in Annual Reunion.

Santa Fe, Fla., June 17.—As it has been the custom for years in the past, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Eli Futch, or Grandpapa Futch, as he is called, will meet in a family reunion on his birthday, and as he is about to reach another mile post of time, which but few will reach in this life, on the 25th of June all of the above mentioned will meet as usual at the residence of his son-in-law, W. M. Blitch, at Santa Fe, for the purpose of doing honor to him who is the idol of his children.

The warehouse here has been remodeled, repaired and fitted out and is ready now for an agent. It will be but a few days now until Santa Fe will be a regular station, to the delight of its progressive citizens.

In addition to our already growing burg we have established here a branch of the Brown-Jennings Hardwood Co., who are working a large crew of hands getting out hardwood. There is almost an inexhaustible supply of hardwood here of the finest quality.

Capt. E. Lenon of the Wade Wood Co. has a contract and is running the woodrack at this place. He is a pleasant gentleman and makes friends wherever he goes.

Watermelons are in the market here, to the delight of the average coon. Their "similes" can be heard as they devour the red meat of an early Cob Gem.

The passage of the pension bill taking in all of those that in the sixties left their heart-broken loved ones to defend their homes in the midst of carnage and death, seems to meet the approval of all patriotic citizens here. The pension bill should and can be made a roll of honor now if those who are entrusted to carry out the law will use discretion.

The farmers here have the right to rejoice, as the cotton crop is the best in years at this writing. All other crops are suffering greatly for rain, and unless it rains soon but little corn and other crops will be made. Santa Fe river is lower than it has been for years. Dogfennel weeds have taken the place of water on the bed of the river in many places.

It has been reported to the writer that some persons, in disregard of the law, are dynamiting the river and killing fish, which should not be allowed.

The health of this community was never better. The doctors complain that it is distressingly healthy.

PROF. LYNCH HERE.

Himself and Family Have Returned to Old Home for the Summer.

Prof. Geo. M. Lynch and family have returned to their old home, Gainesville, and friends are delighted to greet them again.

Prof. Lynch declares that he is not glad to get back again, but his friends know better. He says Jasper is the finest place on earth, and we will grant him his opinion, but at the same time he must not forget his old haunts and friends here.

Prof. Lynch, who was for several years a member of the faculty of the East Florida Seminary, has for the past two years been principal of the Jasper Normal Institute. Friends of himself and family are delighted to welcome them here again.

PLEASING HUMOR.

Editor Davis Is a Candidate on a Unique Platform.

Jeff L. Davis, editor of The White Springs Herald, writes as follows to The Times-Union:

"Please announce that I am a candidate for State house janitor before the people of our dearly beloved State. I want this office, not so much on account of my competency, but because my family connections are in bad financial condition.

"If elected, and I want the job, I will appoint my son chief janitor at a good salary, then my son has a sister who will be clerk in the office at a good salary. Not having much to do they will apply, naturally, for every vacant clerkship at the capitol until both are drawing double salaries from the State.

"Then my son has an aunt-in-law, or some female relative of the family, who can write for the newspapers and I can get her a fine job that will easily place her in the front ranks of Florida's favorite feminine felicitous fairies. She will also want two jobs besides writing for the newspapers. Of course, as janitor I would have charge of the grounds surrounding the capitol, and see to their glory and loveliness. I would have an Adams' apple adorn the center, without a beard, because I don't know whether the apple had a beard or not, and the chances are against it. Next I would have a beautiful tree with its lovely foliage and its Burrs, and I'd know it was Dunn before close attention had ceased.

"Of course I'd have to have a Broome to sweep clean, and a Buckman to use it properly and concisely. I wouldn't want a shrill whistle to wake up the employees, but would take a Crill one, which might not wake up the citizens of Tallahassee, but I would let them know all were there on time. I'd plant a Palmer tree for its beauty, even if I had to Gil-Christ to get it and ship via Jennings. These are beautiful trees and would adorn the grounds ever so much.

"I would not let the public Tram-mell on the grounds, nor Crane their necks too much viewing the scenery. I'd make C-room for Bar-cus—and he's willing—so that it wouldn't be so crowded at the capitol. I may think of other needed improvements at the capitol, which I may make known later on, and will notify the good people of the State. In the meantime, reserve your votes for me for janitor. "JEFF" L. DAVIS."

WILLIAM THOMAS ACQUIT- TED OF KILLING MAXEY SCOFIELD.

the attention of the jury to the power with which they were invested—the power to take human life—and the importance of their careful consideration of the case. He carefully reviewed the evidence from the standpoint of the defense, and paid considerable attention to the law of self-defense.
He presented the side of his client
in an able manner, and closed with an appeal to the jury to acquit the defendant and permit him to return to his wife and children. Col. Clark, according to the time kept by Judge Wills, spoke just one hour, and had seven minutes to his credit when he closed at 12:25 p. m., when the court took a recess until 2:15 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

Court reassembled at the appointed hour, 2:15, and State's Attorney Rivers began the closing argument for the prosecution, which was the final argument in the case. The manner in which he went over the testimony, from start to finish, showed that he had given the case careful consideration, and his presentation of the State's cause was considered as good as could have been made under the circumstances. He closed at 3 o'clock, after which Judge Wills delivered his fair and impartial charge to the jury, and at 3:15 p. m. the twelve men, tried
and true, retired to pass upon the fate of Wm. Thomas for killing Maxey Scofield.

Verdict of Acquittal.

After being out for a little more than an hour and the spreading of one ballot, the jury returned to the box and requested that the first clause of the charge be read to them again, after which they retired to the jury room, and at 6:30 o'clock returned a verdict of not guilty.

It is understood that three ballots were taken, the first two being eleven for acquittal, one for conviction, the third ballot being clear. Z. M.
Sanders was foreman of the jury.

This verdict seems to meet with general public approval.

This has been one of the most interesting cases tried in this county for several years, as the parties interested are well known.

Card from Wm. Thomas.

William Thomas desires through
The Sun to extend his sincere thanks and appreciation to the members of the jury, as well as to his friends,
for their sympathy and support in his recent trouble, assuring them that he will never forget their kindness.

Guava Jelly and Preserved Figs
in Alachua County.

Twelve miles from Gainesville, to the south, in the midst of a busy truck-growing section, is the railway station of Tacoma, on the G. & G. A few minutes' walk from the depot,
on the summit of a hill about 50 feet
high, and over 100 feet above sea level, have been for more than twenty years the attractive residence, orange groves, fruit trees and fields of that well-known and energetic farmer, Mr.
W. C. Smith. Although many of the orange trees were killed to the ground by the great frost of 1904-5, the dead
trees have now been mostly replaced,
and the groves have again taken on a promising appearance. On account of the unprecedented drought of the current year, there is but little fruit on either orange or guava trees and the crop of figs is much inferior to that of 1906. When the writer visited the farm, on June 17th, 1907, (and he wishes here to record his thanks for the kind hospitality shown him by Mr. Smith and his clever wife), the effects of the long drought were very evident. But a deep well was being sunk on the top of the hill, and if sufficient water is met with an aeromotor will be set up and future
droughts defied.

The guava enclosure is on the summit of the hill. It is 100 feet square, and is surrounded by a close plank
wall ten feet high, being entered by a door in the side. One hundred trees of the best cultivated varieties of the tropical guava are inside; the pear-shaped, the white, the green, and the yellow being represented. The young plants were obtained three years ago from Reasoner Bros. of Oneco. They were set out ten feet apart. They now form sturdy, well branched trees, with fine clear limbs

and large sappy leaves and twigs.
They have to be sawn off above to keep them down to ten feet in height,
so that in winter the whole enclosure
can be protected by a roof, completely covering the top. Last year the side branches of the guavas met and quite filled the whole enclosure, giving a very large crop of fruit. But this year, after pruning, the drought has much lessened their growth. The writer has never seen in the West Indies such fine clean, well-grown plants, absolutely free from scale, insects or other pests.

The guavas are picked when ripe,
boiled in water till soft, put into a cloth bag and the juice pressed out by a screw press. The juice is strained as it passes out, measured,
and the right amount of the best granulated sugar (costing from 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cents a pound) added. When the sugar has dissolved, the liquid is strained again and then evaporated down in a large tin-lined copper evaporating pan, over a blue flame gasoline stove. There is no need to stir. Practice is required to tell the right time to stop the evaporating.
Three years' experience has shown that this is attained when large bubbles begin to form and burst on the top, scattering little drops over the surface. The pan has a faucet, and the trays of bottles or glasses are moved up and filled with the hot liquid in succession. The jelly produced is of good color, quite clear,
neither sticky nor too soft or tough,
and of a flavor which is not impaired
by any trace of smokiness. It is superior to any ordinary West India jelly and to the Cuban product put up in paper-lined, ornamented whitewood boxes. Last year more than 6,000 glasses of jelly were made from these trees. (Two tropical guava trees are growing in the open, near the house, but are boxed in during the winter, and, as in the case of those in the large enclosure, are warmed with oil heaters during frost. On account of having been supplied with waste kitchen water they are bearing well.)
Several shrubs of the cattley or strawberry guava are growing in the open or in the enclosure. This guava bears small, round, purple fruits, which are agreeable to eat when fresh, but do not make such well-flavored jelly as the tropical guava. The small yellow Chinese guava, which is also growing in the open, yields a jelly from which the true guava flavor seems entirely absent. Some of the varieties of guava in the enclosure, especially the large white, are agreeable dessert

fruits.

There are six large fig trees growing in the open, lower down the hill,
on soil which experience has shown
is not suited for oranges, being slightly clayey and apparently resting on a ferruginous subsoil. These trees were injured in the great frost of 1894-5. This year they did not start well in the spring, on account of the drought, and were cultivated and manured for the first time. They are of a fine spreading dome shape, well branched from the base. Two of them, measured by the writer, are 36 yards in circumference of spread, the branches being close and reaching to the ground. The variety which is used for preserving is called the Smyrna. It forms quite large figs, which are yellow when ripe. If the fruits are left on too long they may be eaten by the black crows, which have to be driven off or shot. (One or more of the six fig trees bore sugar figs and these turn brown when ripe. They are not so good for preserving, and were not used for that purpose.) As it is not possible to ship ripe figs any considerable distance, and the figs cannot well be dried in the sun on account of insects, and because they cannot compete, if dried, with those figs which have been fertilized by the fig wasp (such as the dried figs now produced in California) the alternative is to preserve them in syrup. The figs are picked when firm, and just beginning to turn yellow. (There is something in the fresh figs, perhaps the milky juice, which is irritating to the skin, and it may be best to wear rubber gloves while handling the fruit.)
The figs are first boiled in water for one hour, to remove all acidity. The water is strained off and the figs boiled for from two to two and a half hours in strong syrup made from white granulated sugar. This syrup is made as strong as it can be made without crystallizing. The figs are then put, while hot, into glass bottles with screw caps. Figs thus treated form an excellent preserve, which deserves and will doubtless attain wide popularity. Last year, at Tacoma, more than a hundred-weight of figs
was gathered from each fig tree.

There seems to be a good demand
for domestic guava jelly in the United States, since the foreign product,
besides being usually heavily taxed,
is not uniform in quality, and being made carelessly and often with wood for fuel with inferior sugar, is not seldom smoky or otherwise of poor flavor or consistence. Figs well preserved in syrup seem to be superior to the dried article. There appears to be a likelihood that, with the aid of the United States to supply the preparation of figs in syrup might be profitably extended in Florida. When fig trees do not do well a heavy mulch

of perhaps moss, or of water hyacinth might be tried.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—
plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup
Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

do not know who will be the Governor of Florida. When we find out who that man is, we are in luck.—Quincy Times. If The Sun is not badly mistaken just such a man resides in the town of Quincy, his name is JAMES E. BROOME. His course during the last session of Legislature was that of the very best. He is pictured by The Times, and he will be enter the race for Governor. WANTS LARGE SLICE OF SMITH'S ESTATE

Woman Claims to Be Daughter
by a Former Marriage.

WANTS OVER EIGHT MILLIONS

Mrs. DuFreche Has Engaged Counsel and Will File Claim Against "Silent" Smith's Big Estate for a Large Part.

New York, June 18.—The American Monday published a story to the effect that a claim for eight and one-third millions of dollars is to be filed against the estate of the late James Henry Smith, in behalf of Mrs. Simon DuFreche, who will claim she is a daughter of Smith by an early marriage.

William T. Houston, one of the lawyers mentioned in connection with the proposed suit, is quoted as follows:

"I am most firmly convinced that this woman is honest and sincere in her action. Her character is of the highest, and she made a thorough investigation of her mother's marriage and history before she retained counsel.

"Mrs. DuFreche says she is certain that 'Silent' Smith was her father and her proofs look very good. Of course, there is a chance of mistaken identity. If it proves such—and this will show you the sincerity of all concerned—Mrs. DuFreche and we of her counsel will drop it. However, I do not think it will."

Mrs. DuFreche's mother was Ellen Garden, and her marriage to Smith is said to have taken place in 1866. Mrs. DuFreche's mother died about seventeen years ago.

SOUND PIRATES BUSY.

Depredating Country Houses that Line Long Island Sound.

New York, June 18.—The sound pirates, whose depredations among the country homes that line Long Island sound have caused much terror, are active again after a long disappearance.

The pirates appeared in a black sloop off Rye, N. Y., according to police reports Monday, and entering the home of Jacob H. Longlot, president of the American Metal company, secured property valued at $10,000.

Concentrated efforts by the authorities of the towns along the sound have hitherto always failed to catch the pirates. Another effort is to be made.

Eight Hurt in Bridge Accident.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 18.—Eight men were hurt by the partial falling of a bridge under construction on the Stevenson extension on the Southern system Monday morning. The structure was to span Battle creek, near South Pittsburg, Tenn. A work car capsized and a girder fell, the locomotive remaining on the track. Foreman A. B. Smith and Timekeeper A. W. Dunbar were badly injured. The others hurt were negro laborers.

Important Haywood Witness Dies.

Canon City, Colo., June 18.—Chas. W. King, an important witness for the defense in the Haywood trial at Boise, Idaho, died from neuritis of the heart Sunday. Bloodhounds belonging to King were used in tracking for the dynamiters of the Independence depot. An hour after his death, a telegram addressed to King summoning him to Boise, was received.

Rifle and Pistol Duel.

Memphis, Tenn., June 18.—A special to the News-Scholar from Meridian, Miss., says that a shotgun, rifle and pistol duel between neighbors at Chunks, a small town, 16 miles east of Meridian, resulted in five of the participants being more or less seriously wounded. The belligerents are close neighbors and further trouble is feared.

Deadly Work with Razor.

Detroit, June 18.—William Roulo, a carpenter aged 35 years, cut his wife's throat Sunday night and then slashed his own with the same razor. Both of them died where they fell, in a bedroom, where their two children were sleeping. Roulo and his wife had quarreled and Mrs. Roulo had applied for a divorce.

Hundred People Thrown in River.

METHODISTS RAISE $200,000.

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting is Held in Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, June 18.—At a large and enthusiastic meeting in this city Sunday, at which were present the several bishops, the Methodist churches of Atlanta went on record as donating $201,000 towards erecting the great Wesley Memorial Institutional church. Of this amount, Asa G. Candler gave $75,000.

On all sides was evidence of the fact that never before in the history of the Methodist church has there been such an arousing of the Methodist hosts and the focusing of their united effort into one particular channel.

Bishop Ward presided over the meeting.

Florida Druggists Meet.

Atlantic Beach, Fla., June 18.—The fourth annual convention of the Florida State Pharmaceutical association was held at the Continental hotel, Atlantic Beach, Fla., on the 12th and 13th. The entertainment committee, consisting of Jacksonville druggists, together with the auxiliary committee of ladies, made the evening exceedingly successful and enjoyable. At the first day's session, Wednesday morning, the address of welcome was delivered by the mayor of Jacksonville, which was responded to by the president of the association. At the afternoon session, Dr. George F. Payne, of Atlanta, addressed the meeting on timely topics of interest to druggists.

Editor Graves Visits Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, June 18.—John Temple Graves, the Georgia editor, reached Oyster Bay Saturday and went at once to Sagamore Hill, where he was in conference with the president for nearly two hours. While the visit was designated as a purely personal one, it is understood that many things political in Georgia were touched upon. "I am a Democrat," said Mr. Graves at the station, "but I am also an ardent admirer of President Roosevelt, and as I was in this neck of the woods, the president has done me the honor to invite me to call upon him." Mr. Graves said he had thanked the president for his part in making Georgia day a success at the Jamestown exposition.

COTTON CROP 30 DAYS LATE.

Conditions of the Plant in Mississippi and Louisiana.

New Orleans, June 18.—The Picayune's weekly cotton crop report says:

"With vigorous treatment during the last two months of warm, fair weather, the cotton plant has improved from 35 to 50 per cent where properly tilled, according to reports from correspondents covering the whole of Louisiana and the southern half of Mississippi.

With another week of fair weather practically all grass will be killed and new cotton chopped out. The old crop is necessarily delicate and a little dwarfed, and the plant, because of unprecedented conditions, was left spindling and weak. The crop is still from 20 to 40 days behind last year, notwithstanding every energy has been concentrated in the field to ridding the plants of weeds and grass.

In some sections it was impossible to obtain satisfactory results, even with improved implement and experienced labor, rank vegetation resisting every effort.

TWO KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED

Fight Occurred Over Whisky—Parties Were Prominent.

Beattyville, Ky., June 18.—At Lee Rose, Owsley county, 4 miles from Booneville, a drunken row occurred Sunday afternoon in which Tom Wilson and Wiley Bowling were instantly killed and Henry Caudell and William Long were wounded.

All parties are prominent in the mountain families of Estell county.

Three Hundredth Anniversary.

Atlanta, June 18.—The Episcopalians of Atlanta Sunday fittingly commemorated the three hundredth anniversary of the establishment of English Christianity in North America. At the morning service in all the churches holy communion was celebrated, and at night there was a great union meeting at St. Philips cathedral in the interest of the thank-offering to be made by the men of the church as an expression of their gratitude for the blessings which three hundred years of the Christianity established by the English colonists at Jamestown in 1607 has brought to North America.

Bodies Still in Ocean.

Washington, June 18.—The navy department has received a dispatch from Admiral Evans, in command of the fleet in Hampton Roads, stating that the search for the bodies of the six midshipmen and four sailors who, with the fireman, whose body has since been recovered, were drowned by the sinking of the Minnesota's little launch last week, was continued Sunday without success. Dragging of the harbor, the dispatch said, would be continued.

Webster, aged 60 years, of Horse Shoe Bend, Idaho, who began to sleep on a train between Kansas City and Denver on April 1, and who did not open his eyes thereafter for 77 days, died here Sunday. A committee of physicians said his sleep was feigned. He was suffering from acute melancholia. Webster was a well-to-do farmer, and was en route to his brother's at Gainesville, Georgia.

JUDGE MASON'S COURT.

Two Interesting Cases Tried Before
That Tribunal Monday.

There was an interesting session of Judge Mason's court Monday, being two cases which will prove of unusual interest to this section.

The first case called was that of
A. Maultsby vs. L. M. McKinney, charged with assumpsit, a verdict having been given to the plaintiff in the sum of $61, the original amount sued for being $100.

The second trial was that of H. A.
Perkins vs. M. A. Densler and J. D.
Hofford, replevin for a horse. The judgment was returned by the jury for the sum of $75.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larson Fell Down and Was Injured.

The three-year-old daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Larson had the misfortune Tuesday morning to fall from the steps on a broken cup, sustaining a serious wound on the forehead and temples.

This accident aroused and excited
the household, naturally, with the result that a physician was summoned.
Dr. Hodges answered the call and made a quick response. He sewed
up the wound, taking several stitches,
and at last accounts the patient was resting well.

SERMONETTES

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS.

A dog hitched to a lawn mower stopped to bark at a passer-by. "Don't mind the dog," said the boy. "He is just barking for an excuse to rest.
It is a heap easier to bark than it is to pull this machine." Say: have you got the trick to see the point?

Do you know what it means to be a friend, to have a friend, to be absolutely sure that whatever you do, whatever you are, wherever you are,
there is one living soul who believes
in you, who will trust you, help you,
and never, never fail you? One who will always cheer and encourage in sunshine as well as in storm, for life
is mostly sunny and the heart needs
a friend all the time—a constant source of inspiration, a heart forever alert and on the defensive for those
it chooses to love.

If the truth were known, many unfortunates whom the world condemns are entitled to the protection of the court, while we proceed to drag others into the limelight who claim protection because of wealth and reputed refinement. We are too quick to throw about their shoulders
a mantle of secrecy because they happen to belong to that howling farce—a segment of the modern social system, society. I have never seen the day that I did not have an infinite respect for little Evelyn Nesbit when alongside Thaw and White.
Protection for her. Yes all the world can give. For is she not the chattel that a mother exchanged for a stipulated pile of gold in the coffers of White?

Nan Patterson, charged with the awful crime of murder, disowned by her friends and disgraced before the world, stood in New York's criminal court, helpless and alone—yet not alone, for her faithful father was by her side. And Nan Patterson, in those dark days, found in him the same father that rocked her cradle in her babyhood. Though a thousand whisperings have been flung to the winds yet men worship the power that holds Evelyn Thaw near the Toombs. It was this same incarnate passion that brought Senator Burton out of Leavenworth with a faded rose clinging to the lapel of his coat. It was the rose his wife pinned there
the day he became a Federal prisoner. The truest affection can never be swayed. It clings the closer when the storms rage and the tempests howl. Love, if never blind, at least seems to forget.

FATHER'S HOPE ABANDONED.

No Clue to Whereabout of Kidnaped
Italian Boy.

New Orleans, La., June 18.—Hope
of finding the kidnaped Italian boy,
Walter Lamana, was about given up Sunday.

The trip of detectives to the Louisiana "lower coast" islands produced no trace whatever of the child. During the eight days' search which have elapsed since the kidnaping, the boy's father has spent very nearly one-sixth of the $6,000 ransom money demanded in running down clues.

Special trains have been the biggest item in this expense.

No threats of violence have followed Saturday night's daring attempt to kidnap a child of Police Captain Capo, in charge of the Italian quarter of New Orleans. Italian excitement appears to have subsided very much.

Delay in Federal Building.

Gainesville, Ga., June 18.—An endeavor has been made to find the cause of the delay in beginning the construction of the government building in Gainesville, an appropriation of $50,000 for which was made at the last session of congress. The working drawings for the Gainesville postoffice were taken up on April 19th last. These drawings proceeded to a certain point, where a tentative sketch showing the proposed arrangement of the building was referred to the postmistress at Gainesville, who strongly objected thereto and requested changes. It is understood that Mrs. Longstreet intends to go to Washington soon to have a conference with the supervising architect.

Methodist Bishops Take Atlanta.

Atlanta, June 18.—The entire Episcopal college of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was monopolized by Atlanta Sunday, the occasion of the presence of the seven bishops of the church being the launching of the Wesley Memorial enterprises. Bishop Charles B. Galloway, at Trinity; Bishop H. C. Morrison, at First church; Bishop Seth Ward, at Park street; Bishop James Atkins, at Walker street; Bishop E. R. Hendrix, at St. Mark's; Bishop Warren
A. Candler at Grace, and Bishop J.
S. Key, at Wesley Memorial, were the chief pulpits attractions of the day.
